

Tom Blower, Sr. Died In Sleep Tuesday

Dead When Wife Called Him in Morning; Member of 192nd Battalion; Funeral
On Sunday.

Death stole quietly over Tom Blower, sr., aged 62, on Tuesday at approximately twelve o'clock noon. Discovery of his passing did not come until Mrs. Blower went to his room and endeavored to waken him. She was startled to get no reply and sought the assistance of a friend and neighbor, who found Mr. Blower had passed away in his sleep.

Deceased was born at Tydesley, Lancashire, in 1881 where he grew into manhood. He married Miss Ruth Evans in Lancashire, and their son Tom was born at Tydesley. In 1919 they came to Canada and settled at Michel, where he secured employment at the mine. A few months later they moved to Coleman where they have resided ever since. Mr. Blower being an employee of International Coal Co.

In 1916 he went overseas with the 192nd battalion, returning to Coleman in March, 1918.

Deceased was a member of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, and was also a member of Summit Lodge, A. F. & A. M. He was a former member of the Eagles, an organization that once functioned in Coleman. He was an old-time curler and derived keen enjoyment from this sport.

Besides his wife and son, he is survived by a brother and sister, both residing at Tydesley. Funeral arrangements are under the supervision of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, and the funeral will be held on Sunday at 2 p.m. Pallbearers have been chosen from the Legion and Masonic lodge. They are Wm. Martland, T. Rose and H. Turner, representing the Legion, and W. S. Purvis, S. Short and W. H. Garner, Summit lodge.

A guard of honor has been formed from members of the 192nd Battalion, and include E. Beart, H. Houghton, G. Derbyshire, W. Ankil, J. Kostisko, D. McEellan, W. Bobbitt, M. Oleschuk, H. Snowdon, F. Antrobus, W. Hopkins, R. Allen, J. Nikituk, V. Karinkchuk, J. Nikatich, A. Harry.

Legion members have been asked to gather at the club rooms on Sunday, at 1:30 p.m., so that they can march in a body to the family residence.

Clean Used Clothing Required by Red Cross Association

The following articles of clothing, in a clean condition, are acceptable and urgently needed by the Canadian Red Cross, Children in Britain, whose homes have been destroyed, need garments at once. Sweaters, skirts and dresses for girls; sweaters, shirts and pants for boys. Stockings, underwear, pyjamas and woollen caps, mitts or scarves for children of all ages. No shoes can be sent.

Anyone wishing to donate new or clean, used garments may bring them to the Red Cross rooms in the town office on Tuesday afternoon. Residents of West Coleman may hand them to Miss Yuill at Cameron school; East Coleman residents may give them to Mrs. T. Cornez, and those on Blairmore Road or Grafton town to Mrs. J. Ankil.

Help those who suffer the loss of homes and comforts from ruthless Nazi bombing. Let Coleman's contribution be generous.

BEATRICE ANKIL,
Chairman for Refugee Clothing.

Endeavor To Secure Field Ambulance Unit

Local St. John Ambulance
Association Writes Hon. J. L.
Ralston; Fail to Meet Success.

Coleman branch of St. John Ambulance Association for the past month have tried unsuccessfully to secure for Coleman a unit affiliated with the 8th Field Ambulance. Letters have been sent to Lt.-Col. J. A. Reid, of Military District No. 13, Calgary; A. E. Shore, Lt.-Col. Officer Commanding 8th Field Ambulance, Sarcee Camp, Calgary; and to the Minister of National Defence, the Hon. J. L. Ralston.

Lt.-Col. Shore stated in his letter that the 8th Field Ambulance, Calgary, was already up to full strength and he had no authority to exceed that number and referred the local association to Hon. J. L. Ralston, M. P.

Following is a letter received from Mr. Ralston's secretary:

Under existing policy, the formation of new N.P.A.M. units is not being contemplated just now. To be quite frank with you, and I am sure you will understand the reasons for it, it is just not possible to blanket a whole formation or organization into the Militia. Once recruiting is resumed in the N.P.A.M., we would, of course, be glad to take on individuals.

Mr. Ralston is fully aware of the very excellent work being done by the St. John Ambulance Association, and I know it would be his wish to give you every encouragement to carry on in your present duties.

Yours faithfully,
Clyde R. Scott, Colonel,
Military Secretary.

The association executive will continue to seek recognition.

Red Cross Campaign Now In Progress

Committees Having Supplies
On Tuesday Evening;
Two Donations Received.

Canvassing committees met in the council chamber, on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of getting their supplies in preparation for canvassing, which started Wednesday morning. Each person donating a dollar or more will receive a Red Cross button and a sticker. A temporary receipt will be given to all regardless of the amount donated, and an official receipt will be given at a later date.

Two further cash contributions were received at the meeting, $30 was received from the Polish society, it being the proceeds taken at its dance last Saturday evening. $14 was received from J. Lipovsk, of the Coleman Hotel. This money was derived from the World Series pool. Mr. Lipovsk had allowed a pool to be conducted on his premises, on condition that on each game the promoter, Harold Houghton, and the winner donate a dollar to the Red Cross. The series went to seven games, hence the $14.

Coleman's Ambulance Contribution Is Appreciated

Mr. George Lomas, Calgary manager of The Canada Life Assurance Co., received a letter from a former official of his company, now serving as a lieutenant in England in the C.A.S.F., stating how pleased he was to see that Coleman had donated two ambulances and stating that they were fine machines and he thought a lot of them. His letter concludes with the paragraph:

"I am sure the citizens of Coleman will be interested in knowing that their machines are now doing good work in Great Britain."

The ambulances bear a plaque stating they were donated by the citizens of Coleman.

St. John Ambulance Association Hold Banquet; Presentation of Awards

Tributes Paid to First Aiders by Guest Speakers;
Bellevue Challenges Coleman to First Aid Competition This Winter; Excellent Entertainment Program by Local And District Artists.

The annual banquet of Coleman branch, St. John Ambulance Association, was held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Saturday evening. J. J. McIntyre, superintendent of International mine, was chairman. Guests were present from Blairmore and Bellevue, in addition to the local mine executives.

Following the national anthem, a one minute's silence was held in memory of the late George Kellock.

Chairman McIntyre, in his address, stated he considered it a great honor to be chairman. He was in full sympathy with First Aiders and their work and would give every support to gain for them the recognition they so richly deserve. Nowhere in the Dominion was more work done for St. John Ambulance than in Coleman. Senior officers in the local branch were dropping out year by year and in his opinion these officers were not being given the recognition they deserved for their many years of unselfish work to First Aid. He hoped the younger members would see fit to give the senior members the recognition they deserved. The local association now endeavoring to have a unit of the 8th Field Ambulance established in the Pass. The Elks were thanked for the loan of the fine song sheets.

Sidney Short remarked on the absence of so many. He thought that many were absent due to both mines working and the fact that many were now in His Majesty's forces. The fact that many had enlisted called for more individual effort from those left at home till the others returned. To those who enlist in the future the training received here as First Aiders would stand them in good stead in their work overseas. The practice of First Aid was a virtue and helped restore a man to more normal balance.

Touching again on the absence of so many he stated that a man especially was conspicuous by his absence. He was the late George Kellock. "As the days go by we will realize more and more just what has happened," stated Mr. Short. Deceased was a staunch friend of the Association, and was heart and soul behind it. If any effort was for the common good Mr. Kellock had been all for it.

NOTICE

To Members of the B.E.S.L. Coleman Branch, No. 9

All members are requested to meet at the Club Rooms at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 20, to attend the funeral of the late comrade T. Blower. Also members of the 192nd Battalion are especially requested to attend.

Lorne A. Campbell, Esq.,
President International &
McGillivray Companies
Coleman

On behalf Coleman Board of Trade expressions of deep regret are conveyed to officers and directors at the recent passing of Vice-President and General Manager George Kellock, whose tireless energy and executive ability meant much to the Companies and the people of Coleman. The results of his work will ever stand as a monument to his unflinching interest and generosity in contributing to our community activities.

H. T. HALLIWELL,
President.
W. L. RIPPON,
Secretary.

ERNIE HOUGHTON INJURED

Ernie Houghton received painful injury Tuesday morning when a plank, on a scaffold on which he was walking, broke, causing him to fall ten feet to the ground. When the plank broke Mr. Houghton was carrying a 115-pound steel shaft. He fell on his feet but the weight of the shaft on his neck caused him to fall doubled up, his knees causing a heavy crushing pressure on his chest. Extent of the injury will not be known for a few days.

Latest Analysis Reveals Drinking Water Now Pure

No Further Need to Boil
Water: Letter to A. F. Short
Revealed Good News.

A letter containing an analysis of a sample of water sent to Edmonton by Coleman Light & Water Co. from the town's drinking supply, revealing the good news that the town's water supply is no longer contaminated and the water need no longer be boiled.

The letter was received this week by A. F. Short, who in turn informed Mayor Antrobus of the health inspector's findings.

ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT
L.T. COL. K. A. McLENNAN

Toronto, Oct. 11—Lt. Col. K. A. McLennan, who for 25 years has been manager of the Pacific Coast Domestic and Export Sales Department of Robin Hood Mills Limited, Vancouver, was elected a vice-president of the company and appointed to the newly created position of Western general manager, effective immediately. Col. McLennan will make his headquarters at Moose Jaw, Sask., in the near future.

Coleman Men Stationed at Coast

Ralph Watson, of No. 11 Depot at the Pacific coast, is spending a short leave of absence at his home here. In conversation with The Journal he stated that Dr. Borden is the medical officer of his unit. Jack Hirst is now army instructor of the trainees, who have entered upon thirty days military training.

Another Coleman man who left town some years ago and who is now in the army at the coast is Joe Bell. He is a member of the First Canadian Scottish Battalion. Ralph has met a number of Coleman boys and former Coleman residents. He met Bill Anderson, who is stationed at Vancouver, where he drives a military transport. Copies of The Journal have been requested to be forwarded each week to the boys at the coast and several addresses have been received.

B. C. Hockey Teams to Play in Alberta

Gives Alberta and Kootenay
Leagues New Lease of Life;

Confirmation that Kimberley, Trail and Nelson would compete in the Alberta league this winter was made during the week by Alberta league officials.

Such an announcement changed what appeared to be two separate and colorless leagues into the most exciting league set-up in the Dominion. It now consists of two Allen Cup winners and an Allen Cup finalist as well as four other sextets that can hold their own in any senior company. Teams competing are Edmonton, Calgary, Turner Valley, Lethbridge and the three Kootenay teams.

Games between Alberta and B.C. teams will be recognized as league games in the Alberta league. Two, one or no points will be credited to the Alberta team depending on the outcome of each game.

Already several Coleman hockey fans have voiced their intention to attend many of the Lethbridge games, Lethbridge being recognized by them as their home team now that Canadians have disappeared from the senior hockey picture.

Dan Sprout was one of the twenty-four players attending the first practice session of Calgary Stampers on Wednesday evening. Coach Marty Burke has announced he will carry fifteen players on his team this winter. Stampers are the first to have ice available for practice in Alberta.

WEDDINGS

HOWARTH — DUNLOP

Worth Preserving

This fall the prairie provinces of Western Canada have played host to an increasingly large number of American hunters and sportsmen who have come into this country to enjoy a few days or a few weeks of the magnificent sport which these broad spaces afford for those who enjoy hunting the game birds.

These hunters from south of the international boundary have been welcomed with open arms. Government officials and officials of local game preservation and hunting organizations have extended courtesies due to welcome guests with kindred aspirations and common interests. These visitors have been advised where the best hunting is obtainable, guides have been found for them and everything possible has been done to make their visit a happy one and to ensure good hunting for them.

The gates of hospitality have been flung wide open for these visiting hunters for several reasons. It is recognized that every American dollar left in this country is of value to Canada's war efforts and that the goodwill of these visitors will continue to pay dividends long after the war is over.

But apart from the economic aspect of the development of this form of the tourist industry, it is recognized that there are enough game birds in this country to afford good hunting for visitors as well as for our own people, provided all who participate in this class of sport are governed by the principles of good sportsmanship and are willing to abide by the regulations which have been laid down by the governing bodies to ensure the preservation of this great heritage in perpetuity for our enjoyment and for their enjoyment. We are willing to share our pleasures with neighbors for whom we have high regard and who, in actuality, are our Allies in a great cause.

Matter Of Concern

The open season for ducks and upland game birds was nicely under way this fall when an item appeared in one of the Western dailies announcing that it had been reported to officials of a provincial sports organization that "in some cases American hunters have been violating rules of sportsmanship by slaughtering birds in excess of their bag limits, for which they have no legitimate use."

The announcement is one which should be of considerable concern to the governments of the prairie provinces, to officials and membership of all organizations devoted to the conservation of game and wild life, to all lovers of wild life and the great outdoors and to the public generally.

The reason why this concern should be displayed is briefly summarized in the words of an official of one of the game conservation organizations in the second paragraph of the article to which reference is made in which he states that "if sportsmen generally adopted such practices, the prairies would soon be as devoid of game as were those of the northern states."

The spokesman for the organization in question put his finger on the crux of the situation, when he inferred that if such practices were allowed to go unchecked, the time would come when large numbers of hunters would be tempted to flout the game laws and indulge in indiscriminate slaughter and it would not be very long when the game birds of the country would follow the passenger pigeon into oblivion and one of the greatest resources of the country would be dissipated. There would no longer be any sport for our own people or for our American cousins. It is unthinkable that, in this enlightened day such a denouement would be permissible.

For Mutual Benefit

One cannot for a moment entertain the belief that more than a very few of the many hunters who have come to this country to enjoy sport would violate Canadian hospitality by indulging in indiscriminate and wanton slaughter, and it is inconceivable that an unsportsmanlike attitude would be condoned by the great majority of their own countrymen. Indeed, the game laws and regulations of this country are based on conventions which have been given the seal of approval of the American people as well as those of Canada. That, in itself, is proof that the people of the United States as well as those of this country are anxious that this great heritage should be preserved for the benefit of both for all time to come.

The existence of this great natural resource must not be sacrificed on the altar of momentary pleasure of a few selfish or thoughtless individuals, whether they be resident north or south of the international boundary. By mutual agreement the American and Canadian people have so decreed it. Neither must the goodwill and cordial relations which exist between the people of the two countries be jeopardized by heedless actions of a minute percentage of either. It would be penny wise and pound foolish to permit the goose which lays the golden eggs to be killed.

Industries In West

Figures Show More Manufacturing Is Being Done On Prairies

The assumption that Canada's prairies are almost exclusively agricultural in their production is not borne out by the latest figures available at Ottawa concerning manufacturing in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. These point to a manufacturing production worth $279,474,000 furnishing employment for 42,314 people receiving salaries and wages amounting to $45,551,000. Western Canada may be one of the great granaries of the world but it is also, apparently, developing from the standpoint of manufacturing.

Aid War Effort

Scientific Advisory Board Is Created By Great Britain

Great Britain has created a scientific advisory board to strengthen her war effort by bringing eminent scientists into active co-operation with branches of the government.

Travel At High Speed

The Air Hygiene Foundation at Pittsburgh reported that common cold germs, propelled by a sneeze, hunt new victims at a speed better than 100 miles an hour. "An unstified sneeze sprays the air with thousands of droplets, some of which travel 32 feet and at a rate as high as 150 feet per second," said a foundation bulletin.

Stories About Poland

Nazis Endeavoring To Stamp Out Every Spark Of Nationality

The hand of Hitler falls heavily on occupied Poland. By harsh decree and prison camp, Germany is endeavoring to stamp out the still glowing sparks of Polish nationality. By forced labor, she is endeavoring to repair her own dwindling supplies of food.

Polish-language newspapers published in the United States reveal some of the story. "Ameryka-Echo" of Toledo, Ohio, tells how, on the anniversary of the day when German troops first crossed the Polish frontier, German authorities held celebrations throughout all German-held territories. Every Polish town had to name one of its main thoroughfares after Adolf Hitler.

A new government decree makes every Polish landowner responsible for preparing all of his land for spring sowing. Any land lying fallow will be confiscated by the German authorities and rented to persons of their choosing.

Hundreds of thousands of Polish men and women have been sent to work on German farms and in factories since the spring of 1940. German authorities have started the registration of all Polish women from 15 to 40 for forced labor. Educated women are taken first and as intellectual work has been declared unsuitable for Poles, these women are made to scrub floors, and gather garbage.

Arthur Greiser, governor of Poland, recently declared in a radio speech, that Germans who have settled in Posen are "lords of creation" and must remain on their newly acquired lands forever. "Every German" he said, "must build his own house, on the primitive Polish huts, but corresponding to German character and needs. German youth must move into such homes and in them found new generations. . . . Polish soil is drenched with German blood and must remain German."

"Karjer Polski" published at Milwaukee, reports that Polish prisoners of war in Germany are starving. Only food parcels from home keep them alive. But the parcels are not coming regularly and deficiency diseases are frequent. Scoury has been observed in all camps.

New Rail Signal Box

Replaces Eight Formerly Used On English Railway Network

The largest railway signalling installation of its kind in the world is now being completed to cover the six miles' network of railway tracks at York Station (I.N.E.R.), England. Where, formerly, eight signal boxes were needed for this vital railway system, control will in future be directed from one central signal box.

An ingenious method of relay interlocking produces a remarkable economy of working, as the point and signal control levers are no longer directly linked. At the touch of a switch or lever, not only are all the necessary points operated and the signals cleared over the complete route, but, at the same time, any conflicting move is automatically prevented.

The principal advantage of the system is that the switches or levers are small and can actually be mounted on the track diagram which tells the signalman at a glance exactly what is happening in the area under his control. He knows from lights on the chart before him whether sections of the railway track are occupied or not, the indications of the signals, and what routes have been opened up.

The control panel covers 800 routes, 270 sets of points, 300 signals, 45 route indicators, and 10 injunction indicators. More than 1,200 train movements a day will be directed from it.

Alfalfa Crop Large

Alfalfa seed is a big crop in Saskatchewan. This year's crop should average 100 lbs. per acre and the 35,000 acres should yield over 2 1/2 million pounds of registered and certified seed. Most of it is grown in the northern areas of the province.

Could Ship Full Quota

United States Prepared To Take 51,720 Head Of Canadian Cattle

Canada may export to the United States up to 51,720 head of cattle, weighing 700 pounds or more, other than calves, during the last quarter of 1940, which started October 1 the Dominion Department of Agriculture announced.

Under the Canada-United States trade agreement, it was provided that 193,950 head of such cattle may enter the United States from Canada at a reduced rate of 1 1/2 cents per pound, provided that not more than 51,720 are imported in any one quarter of the calendar year.

Imports of such cattle during the first three-quarters of this year were entirely under the established quota for any quarter to permit entry at the reduced rate of the maximum quantity during the fourth quarter, the department said.

"In other words, we may export to the United States up to 51,720 heavy calves at the reduced rate," it added.

Registration Of Women

Enthusiasm Shown For Engaging In War Work

Representatives of various women's organizations meeting in Toronto were enthusiastically under the voluntary registration of Canadian Women has practically completed its task of registering Canadian women able and willing to perform war work of various kinds.

The registration was conducted voluntarily starting with the outbreak of war a year ago, and upwards of 250,000 women were registered, most of them having special qualifications.

At the meeting Senator Iva Falis, the national chairman, reported that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had twice publicly praised the work of the registration and had pledged himself that the utmost use would be made of it.

Miss Margaret Hyndman, of Toronto, director of the work, told of the enthusiasm shown by women in every part of Canada.

Not Enough For Two

If Hitler Won War Mussolini Would Get Very Little

It would be vastly interesting to know if Mussolini has read Hitler's "Mein Kampf." Here is a paragraph that is of some note: "It must never be forgotten that nothing really great in the world has been achieved by coalitions; it has always been accomplished by a single victor. Joint successes, by their very origin, bear within them the seeds of future attrition, indeed of loss of what is already achieved. Great intellectual revolutions that really overthrow the world are thinkable and possible at all only as titanic struggles of individual units, never as enterprises of coalition." A thought that, for the man who waited until he believed it safe to engage in an enterprise of coalition, with the hope that a joint success would provide spoils enough to satisfy two victors.—Brandon Sun.

Germany Is Running Short Of Many Necessary Supplies

There is a shortage of food in Germany with the bread situation reported to be acute, the British Broadcasting Corporation said in a news broadcast.

So great is the shortage of rubber in Germany that bicycle tires are made available to Hitler Youth leaders only for service in order to keep close watch on rural populations, the B.B.C. added.

The B.B.C. noted German satisfaction over an agricultural agreement with Italy as an indication that Italy had the short end of the deal and said the German food minister had forthwith sent a delegation to Budapest in an attempt to conclude a similar agreement with Hungary.

All territories occupied by the Nazis were said to be on short rations. As evidence of this the B.B.C. reported the apparent joy with which Norwegians hailed an announcement that some supplies of coal and coke would be available this winter.

The gasoline shortage was indicated in Belgium and Holland by the barring from service of cars using more than a certain quantity of gas a mile. The French, the B.B.C. said, are finding it difficult to provide the 450,000 francs a day necessary to support the army of occupation. More than 2,000,000 prisoners remain in the hands of the Germans resulting in a shortage of manpower in France.

Critical Situation Is Seen In Axis Thrust In Balkans

London.—Movements of German troops down the Danube into Rumania seem designed as a test to feel out the attitudes of Russia and Turkey toward Axis action in the Balkans and possibly an offensive against the Dardanelles. The totalitarian dictators will have to be assured especially of Stalin's position, before further pressure in southeastern Europe can be safely applied.

Russia may be said to hold the key to immediate future developments, and up to the present Russian responses to the strengthening of German military forces in Rumania must be perplexing to Rome and Berlin. Reinforcements have been sent to the Crimea on the Black Sea, whose principal ports, Sebastopol, now has nightly blackouts. At the same time the defenses of the Baku oil fields on the Caspian sea are being strengthened.

The Slavs thus appear to be preparing for a possible emergency, while reports from Turkey indicate increasing friendliness in Russo-Turkish relations. Nevertheless, it has been suggested recently from Axis sources that Germany is willing to agree to Russian seizure of territory in northeastern Turkey if Stalin will agree to further Italian-German expansion in the Balkans.

If the present aims of Germany and Italy contemplate action in Yugoslavia alone, Russia might remain quiescent, though it was Russia's support of Serbia, now Jugoslavia, against Austro-Hungary in 1914 that started the Great War. If an offensive against Greece too is contemplated, then the situation becomes serious.

Eastern Greece borders the small corner of European Turkey, which in turn forms the approach to the Dardanelles. Once German possessions of the Dardanelles is threatened, Russia faces a critical situation as does Turkey also. The Dardanelles provides the only outlet to the Mediterranean and the trade routes of the world for southern Russia.

Southern Russia would be bottled up if the Dardanelles were seized by a nation as strong as Germany. Turkey would become entirely an Axis minor power, losing geographical connection with Europe and threatened with degeneration.

Every consideration of national well-being would normally require Russia and Turkey to join forces against seizure of the Dardanelles by the Axis dictators. Nevertheless, the new German-Italian-Japanese alliance makes Russia's position uncertain.

Russia might evade actual belligerence, if the Dardanelles became a critical issue, by offering all help to Turkey short of war. In that event the Turks probably would fight. If they did so, the question of Japan's aid under the terms of the triple alliance might become clarified.

For Japan's aid to the axis presumably becomes effective whatever country, now at peace, joins the war against Germany and Italy.

Watching Italians

British Army In Egypt Is Blocking Enemy Advance Eastward

Somewhere in the Western Desert, Egypt—Cream of the British Imperial army lies athwart the western desert from the sea southwards in pre-arranged strategic positions—waiting and watching as Graziani's Italians pause to recuperate from the punishment they took in their 60-mile drive into Egypt.

Pouring troops and material into a fan-shaped coastal area between the encampment at Sollum and their forward salient at Sidi Barrani, the Italians are strenuously preparing for the second and more difficult stage of their advance eastward.

Though the British forces did not attempt seriously to impede the Italian push to Sidi Barrani, their enemy suffered considerably from harassing tactics, losing much motorized material as a result of artillery and air attack.

Now they are engaged in consolidating their lines of communication and replacing lost equipment.

British officers who commanded the units which first engaged the enemy 90 minutes after the Italians crossed the frontier from Libya to Egypt, described to correspondents exciting incidents of the early fighting.

Halfway Pass—known by the Tommies as "Hell-Fire Pass"—was one of the first scenes of action when machine gunners, concealed in the surrounding sandhills, concentrated their fire on the enemy as they attempted the tricky descent.

British sappers had already blown up the path.

Then a number of heavy lorries bunched up at the head of the pass were quickly destroyed, blocking the way for the Italian troops who had to scramble down the escarpment under the well-directed fire of British soldiers.

While moderate estimates placed the Italian losses of mechanized vehicles at 200, the British forces carried out constant changes of position for seven days with very few casualties.

Everyone here spoke in terms of the highest praise of the French unit, which played a large part in harassing the enemy.

Dutch Buying Planes

Manila.—Major M. Van Haselen of the Netherlands East Indies air force arrived by special plane from Java on Monday to the United States to obtain as many United States planes as he can purchase with cash.

Prevent Labor Shortage

Postponement Of Military Training For Essential Employees

Ottawa.—The government has moved to prevent a shortage of skilled labor in war industry.

Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, associate deputy minister of national services, said administrative boards had been advised to give consideration to representations by certain industrial concerns with respect to postponement of compulsory military training for their key and essential employees.

A list of war industries was drawn up by the department of munitions and supply and presented to the war services department by the national labor supply council.

Gen. LaFleche said: "The war services department has circulated the list to administrative boards with the strong suggestion that any essential key man employed by organizations engaged in production of war equipment, have their military training postponed until some time later in the 12 months period."

(Administrative boards in Canada's 13 military districts may postpone compulsory military training to later dates within a 12-month period, at discretion, upon application of a recruit's employers.)

"The men having reported and being settled for the first call for military training, that ends it for this time to the entire satisfaction of all concerned," Gen. LaFleche said. "We will hope for the best result for the next time."

Nazi Airmen

Air Marshal Bishop Says That They Are A "Bad Lot"

Ottawa.—Compared to the German airmen with whom he fought 23 years ago the Nazi fighters of to-day are a "pretty bad lot," according to Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, just returned from a visit to England. The air marshal said the prisoners have an immense faith in Hitler and many of them apparently believe German troops are already in Great Britain.

The Royal Air Force flyers in the first Great War were taken to German headquarters, in their messes, but that is not done now. At a flying field he visited he was told that a Messerschmidt plane landed of its own accord a few days ago and the pilot demanded to be taken to German headquarters.

One prisoner's confidence in Hitler was backed up by experience. He said:

"I was shot down and made a prisoner in Poland and my leader came to get me. I was shot down in France and he came for me. He will come here to get me also."

Orders Are Expected

Merchant Ships May Shortly Be Built In Canada

Vancouver.—A British commission is expected to visit Canada shortly for discussions with Canadian naval authorities on the building of merchant marine. Hon. Angus Macdonald, minister of naval services, said on his arrival here with Rear-Admiral P. W. Nelles, chief of naval staff, R.C.N.

Building of defence vessels in Canada is well ahead of schedule and 1941 contracts are being completed now, the minister said. He left here for Victoria to inspect the Esquimalt naval establishment.

tensive study was being given to Canada's western defences and indicated some infantry had been concentrated in the area for a time.

With the third division going to the Atlantic it is to be expected that the remaining mobilized division, the fourth, or a part of it will go on garrison duty in the new Pacific command.

The infantry units of a fifth division, nine battalions, are also mobilized and it is possible that the infantry units assigned to the command area may be chosen from the fourth division and the mobilized units of the fifth division on a geographical basis. That is, western Canadian units mobilized for the fifth division may be linked to western units of the fourth division to make up the garrison considered appropriate and thus avoid the transfer of whole battalions from eastern Canada.

Maj.-Gen. Alexander, as a permanent force officer, has a long and brilliant record. His promotion to the rank of major-general came early in this year and was a recognition of the importance of the Toronto post in which he was responsible for the administration of one of the largest military districts and the big military training centre at Camp Borden.

Canada To Strengthen Defenses On Exposed Areas At West Coast

Ottawa.—Defence Minister Ralston announced the creation of a Pacific army command and appointed Maj.-Gen. R. O. Alexander as commander.

The command embraces British Columbia and Alberta and Gen. Alexander, a permanent force officer, leaves his post as district officer commanding at Toronto to take the command over.

Colonel Ralston's announcement marked the extension to Canada's western exposed area of the defence principles adopted a few months ago when the Atlantic army command was created under the direction of Maj.-Gen. W. H. P. Elkins.

The command will have jurisdiction over coastal defence and fortress troops and all mobile forces assigned to the defence of the area. It will maintain close co-operation with the headquarters of the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force on the Pacific coast.

While the third division has been assigned to the Atlantic command, no announcement has yet been made of the troops to be allotted to the Pacific command in addition to the regular fortress and coastal defence forces already there.

Col. Ralston said recently that in-

Conditions In France

Tragic Picture Is Presented Of People In Bondage

New York.—Unoccupied France is living to-day on beds of thorns and short rations, mourning for death and its past glory, and dreading every hour of the future.

Most Frenchmen can see ahead of them and their children only, months—if not years—of trampled liberties, privation and threatened starvation, racial animosities, and drugery that may almost approach slavery to pay the Germans $9,000,000 a day tribute—unless Germany is defeated.

Most tragically, many seem to have lost their spirit; they feel that they themselves can do little to influence their own fate.

Nearly 2,000,000 French soldiers are prisoners of war and their families are worrying about fathers, husbands and sons in prison camps in occupied France or Germany, few know just where.

There is a shortage of food in nearly all prison camps, but families (themselves on short rations) are not permitted to send food packages.

Some 100,000 families are mourning fathers, husbands or sons, killed in action or died of wounds. More thousands are known to be wounded or gravely ill in prison camps or hospitals "somewhere in occupied territory."

Eagle Squadron

Royal Air Force Fighters Have American Division

London.—First Royal Air Force fighter squadron composed entirely of United States pilots will shortly take its place in the front line of Britain's defenders. Air Secretary Sir Archibald Sinclair announced.

The unit, which will be known as the Eagle squadron, will be commanded by Squadron Leader William Erwin Gilson Taylor, of Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

Toronto.—Robert Laurier, Ottawa lawyer and nephew of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, has been sworn in as Ontario minister of mines. He succeeds Hon. Paul Leduc, who relinquished the cabinet post to become registrar of the supreme court of Canada.

To Build Tanks

5,000 To Be Manufactured Here For Canadian And British Forces

Ottawa.—Designs of a new type of tank are being completed and preparations are under way to manufacture 5,000 in Canada, Supply Minister Howe told The Canadian Press. The total output now planned will cost approximately $150,000,000.

It is understood the new machine will embody the best features of British and United States tanks of a medium-sized, cruiser type, but no details have been made public.

Mr. Howe said the tanks will be manufactured in a Canadian plant or plants but arrangements had not reached the stage where he could make a formal announcement.

It has been known for some time departmental experts were engaged on designing a Canadian type tank to be manufactured here for the Canadian and British forces.

Tentative plans are for Canada to retain 1,200 of the new tanks, while the remainder, 1,800 are to be manufactured for the British government.

The problem of obtaining tanks in Canada has occupied the government ever since the war started and it is understood there will be further development looking toward production of a smaller, faster and cheaper tank in this country.

In addition to these developments a Montreal firm is understood to be working on an order placed there by the British government for large, mark III tanks.

Meanwhile needs of the Canadian tank brigade in machine for training purposes are being met by the use of a large number of tanks obtained from the United States government from a supply on hand there since the first Great War.

Requisition Ships

London.—The ministry of shipping announced the government has decided to requisition coastal and short-sea liners. The minister of shipping, in a meeting with owners' representatives, explained the scheme generally and said that worked out for the requisition of deep sea liners early in the war.

War Profiteering

Southport, Eng.—President William Holmes of the Trades Union Congress, attacking war profiteering, said that "if manifestations of the people's spirit do not shame the greedy and selfish," then sterner government measures must be employed.

Will Shorten The Training Period For Canadian Air Force

Ottawa.—A further acceleration of the air training program has been decided upon, Air Minister Power announced. The course for pilots in the service flying training schools, recently reduced from 16 weeks to 14, will be further reduced. The intake of recruits for training as pilots, air observers and air gunners will be stepped up in the ratio of five to seven, said the minister. Where the program calls for five men, seven will be taken, approximately 40 per cent.

The effect will be a larger number of men passing through the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan schools in Canada but not necessarily an increase in the rate at which pilots trained here go into action overseas.

Major Power said while the service flying training period in Canada would be shortened it was likely the operational training period overseas would be lengthened. Thus Canadian-trained pilots will spend more time on the actual battle-type planes before going into action than was contemplated up to the present.

The minister made the announcement at a press conference. With him were James J. Duncan, deputy minister, and Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., director of recruiting for the Royal Canadian Air Force who recently returned from a flying trip to England.

Other statements made at the conference were:

The percentage of accidents in air force training in Canada is "extremely low";

London.—A struggle is now imminent between French West and equatorial Africa, embracing one-fourth the dark continent, over conflicting loyalties to the warring nations of Europe.

Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Free France faction allied with Great Britain, landed at Duala, on the Cameroon coast to consolidate his hold on equatorial Africa.

All this region of 900,000 square miles and 1,500,000 people, comprised of the Cameroons, French and Belgian Congo, the Lake Chad, Oubangi and Chari districts, had declared allegiance to him except for a small part of the Gabon area.

Gen. Maxime Weygand, once generalissimo of the allied French and British armies, arrived in French West Africa to hold that region for the Vichy government which has capitulated to Germany. French West Africa embraces 1,820,000 square miles and has a population of 15,000,000.

Weygand's forces held the three important west African ports: Dakar, where a combined Free French-British landing force was repulsed two weeks ago; Liverville and Port Gentil. British warships were blockading all three.

An announcement of the French admiralty indicated that hostilities had begun. It said the French submarine Ajax had been sunk, its crew rescued and taken to Freetown, Sierra Leone, a British colony in west Africa. It was not announced how the Ajax was sunk but the French admiralty said its information came from the British admiralty.

De Gaulle was believed preparing for an attempt to lure west Africa to the Free France side. His efforts were expected to be directed at Dakar, where the French Ivory coast, where Free France sentiment was reported strong.

In the region under Weygand's command were also Tunisia, Algeria, Morocco, Mauritania, Senegal, Guinea, Togo and the Niger territory.

Sink Italian Vessel

Rome.—The Italian steamship France Fascio, 1,858 tons, was sunk by an unidentified submarine while en route from Genoa to Barcelona, unofficial reports said. Experts said some members of the crew of the 45-year-old vessel reached shore.

The pelt of one Norwegian-bred platina fox, a mutation of the silver fox, brought a price of $11,000, highest ever paid.

Double the number of Australian and New Zealand aircrew men originally expected will come to Canada for advanced training within the next few months;

Air defences on the Pacific coast are being strengthened right along.

Discussing the acceleration of the pilot-training scheduled, Major Power said the elementary flying training schools, all civilian-operated, would handle the increased number of student pilots which would be required to keep the service flying training schools working at capacity on the shortened course.

No further curtailment of the seven-week course in elementary flying training schools is contemplated. That course was shortened by a week from the original eight-week course earlier this summer.

Mr. Duncan said the R.C.A.F. was prepared to accept 1,000 men with experience in modern radio work.

They should have a good knowledge of types of equipment and be "good all round radio men," preferably with short wave experience and a knowledge of the more modern sets.

These men would be enlisted both for home and overseas service with the probability that numbers might be sent overseas shortly, he said.

In addition to these 1,000 who would be aircraftmen, a number of officers would be commissioned. These should have university degrees in physics and have first class knowledge of the theoretical as well as the practical side of radio.

THE QUEEN AND THE SOLDIER

A convalescent soldier's straw sun-hat claims Royal attention, and causes a smile in which everybody joins as Queen Elizabeth pays one of her frequent visits to British war wounded.

Jimmy Gets A "Saer Tae"

Last week citizens were startled to see Jimmy Taylor painfully hobbling down with the aid of a pair of crutches. Every now and again Jimmy had to stop and rest; progress was painfully slow. Asked what had happened, Jimmy said that while at work he was handling a heavy vice and, to quote Jimmy, "the damn thing fell on my big toe."

The injured member required medical attention and a cast has been placed on the injured foot. During the past few days Jimmy's impatience to get down town has caused him to throw away the crutches and he now uses a heavy cane.

Jimmy Anderson Makes Hit In Coast Soccer Game

Pte. Jimmy Anderson of the S.A.R., stationed at Nanaimo, B.C., made a hit with soccer fans at the B.C. town, last Sunday, when he took part in a game as a member of the Nanaimo eleven.

A press story has this to say about Jimmy: "Of special interest to those who saw last Sunday's game will be the appearance in a City stripe of Jimmy Anderson, of the S.A.R. Jimmy created quite a sensation among the spectators by his deft touches, and fine placing as centre half."

"HE EMBARKED"

A good story is told this week about a Michel soldier who was stationed on the mainland at the Pacific coast. The soldier is well known to many Coleman people.

A report sprang up in camp that the unit was about to move to new quarters. Egypt and the West Indies were frequently mentioned. So "het up" did our hero become that he asked leave of absence in order to say farewell to his family and relatives. Leave being granted he hurried home to Michel, where he visited relatives and friends. One relative, thinking this might be the last time he might see our hero, invested approximately $30 in Johnny Walker and John Barleycorn in order to give a fitting farewell.

Our hero returned to the coast in time to hear orders for the unit to pack their bags. They were about to move from their present barracks and set sail. They tramped down to the docks and boarded a ship. Amid the waving of flags and the cheering of many voices the members of the unit and our hero set sail for the unknown. One hour later "land was sighted" and the boat glided quietly into harbour. Nanaimo rather than Egypt or the West Indies was their destination. It is reported that the relative who invested $30 in a "last farewell" threatens to make our hero drink from the Old Man river on his next visit home.

Recruits Wanted

The Royal Canadian Air Force Medical Corps requires male medical nursing attendants for the wards in hospitals in Calgary and elsewhere.

If you are between 20 and 40 years of age, medically fit, have a high school education, are interested in First Aid and desire to be trained as a pupil nurse or assistant operating nurse (not bed pan carriers), then apply, giving full particulars of qualifications, age, education, experience, etc., address and phone number (so you can be notified for interview), by letter to:

Captain H. G. Osborne, Medical Officer, Royal Canadian Air Force Medical Corps, Air Force Headquarters, Regina, Sask.

Note: This medical corps is a separate unit and will wear air force blue uniforms.

If interested, send application AT ONCE.

Theatre Notes

Mickey Rooney, number one box office attraction on the North American continent, appears at the Palace this week-end in the film "Judge Hardy and Son." The supporting cast includes Lewis Stone, Cecil Parker and Fay Holden. Mickey traces the rich daughter of an old couple about to be evicted from their home and so gets enough money to buy accessories for his old jalopy. It is full of good clean fun and lots of laughs.

At Cole's theatre, Bellevue, this week-end, the world's foremost dance team, Fred Astaire and Eleanor Powell, are featured in "Broadway Melody of 1940." Supporting cast is Geo. Murphy, Frank Morgan, Ian Hunter, Florence Rice and Lynne Carver. Dances in Stomtime, Taptime, Walttime. Jivetime are featured. Put this on your "must see list."

A CHALLENGE TO CANADIANS

EMERGENCY CALL!

From the shores of our Motherland comes an appeal for help which no true Canadian can fail to heed. While we live in comfort, death drops on that embattled island. The need for Red Cross assistance is urgent. Our sons and brothers are over there. On land, at sea, in the air, they face death daily. We must be prepared to help them when they are sick or wounded.

Red Cross help is needed on behalf of soldier and civilian alike. Hospitals and hospital equipment, surgical supplies and dressings, ambulances and X-Ray equipment will be needed. Overnight the need may become so urgent that lives may be sacrificed if help cannot be sent at once.

Never before has there been so great a need for Red Cross assistance. This challenge to humanity must be answered. Give to the Red Cross. Give to the utmost NOW!

Everyone's Job

In The Crows Nest Pass Depends On Coal Mining

USE the Railroads for Freight and Passenger Traffic. The railroads use Coal; the mining of which provides employment for 2,000 mine-workers in the Crows Nest Pass; they provide Safety and Comfort and operate in all kinds of weather. It is vital to the continuance of business progress and steady employment that you use the railroads for ALL FREIGHT and PASSENGER Transportation. Throttle the railroads by unfair wage-chiselling competition, and you will eventually destroy your own business and jobs for thousands of mineworkers and railroaders.

WHEN you wish to talk to a person, you can walk or travel miles to do it. But, with exceptions, you don't. When you wish to pay bills or make purchases, you can carry around with you a bundle of cash or a sack of coins. But, with exceptions, you don't. In the one case you use a telephone. In the other, you use a cheque on your bank. In either case you save time and effort by using a convenient modern device. And you use the one as naturally as the other. Canadians do make extensive use of the services of the chartered banks. In deposits in chartered banks at the time the last return was made to Parliament, totalled $2,530,000,000; cheques issued and debited to individual accounts in August, 1940, the most recent month for which returns are available, totalled $2,457,706,218. These figures show that most Canadian business is done by cheque and illustrate the extent to which the people make use of the banking system. The banks take pride in the modern services they provide for your convenience.

An Interesting Story

Tells How Wall Street's Term "Watered Stock" Was Coined

Behind the term "watered stock" is an interesting story. The Wall Street operators of great-grandfather's day were more crooked than they are now—much more, I should say, and the "Great Bear" of them all was Daniel Drew. "Uncle Dan," you remember, mismanaged the Erie railroad about 70 years ago in partnership with Jay Gould and Jim Fiske. Drew was so unscrupulous that even the wily Mr. Gould said "this touch is death." Before venturing into finance and railroading, Uncle Dan had been a drover. On one occasion he bought a large herd of starved cattle cheaply and arranged to sell to John Jacob Astor's brother, Henry, who was a New York butcher. Drew drove his cattle to pasture, emptied sacks of salt over the grass, and would not let the thirst-maddened animals drink until just before Henry Astor's arrival. Then they gorged themselves on water so they looked fat and heavy. Astor paid a good price for them. When the truth came out, Wall Street chuckled at John Jacob's brother and coined the term "watered stock." — Railway Magazine.

For Lonely Wives

Club Formed In London For Women Whose Husbands Have Gone To The War

A "lonely wives" club, for wives and mothers whose husbands and sons have gone to war and many of whose children have been evacuated, has been founded in London's Paddington district.

The membership fee is threepence a year and for this the women receive use of the club room and library playrooms for the children and the opportunity to buy sandwiches meals from the canteen for sixpence.

The club was founded in July by the Hon. Mrs. Kenneth Marr-Johnson, youngest daughter of Lord Meatham, a former Lord Chancellor. More than 100 women became members in the first week.

The German Conquest

Expected To Keep All The Countries That She Has Subjugated

Germany no longer even pretends that her aim in the conquest of the small European countries is anything but brutal conquest.

Thus a German organ in Warsaw, printing of course what it is told to print, declares magnificently that Norway and all the Scandinavian countries "will remain always in the power sphere of the great German space," says "there is no longer justification for the independent existence as states of the small nations."

When this means is clear. If Germany were to win the war the small states either would be incorporated directly within the Reich, or they would be so enmeshed with economic and political ties that they could not call their souls their own.

That process is, of course, already under way. It is admitted frankly in Berlin that the independent Duchy of Luxembourg is being taken over, and the French provinces of Alsace and Lorraine. So diligent is the campaign to "Nazify" Norway that the Germans have set up the traitor Quisling as the head of an administration they can control. Sweden will share the same fate, if the Germans win. Denmark, Holland and Belgium, France, Switzerland and the Balkans can expect no real independence in the future if Hitler dominates Europe.

Nothing illustrates better than this monstrous situation the nature of the evil thing which has come out of Germany. Scandinavia and the Low Countries in particular asked nothing of the world but to be left alone. No one of them had any more thought of making war on Hitler than of sailing to the moon. In their efforts to be strictly neutral they leaned so far backwards as to give the Germans an actual advantage. But this did not save them when the Germans decided to strike—the German lust for conquest knows no bounds in decency or gratitude.

It is to save herself and the world from so dreadful a fate, complete subjugation to the evil Nazi will, that Britain and the Empire are pursuing a war which will not end short of a victory that restores independence to the oppressed and assures them the rights of free men. Britain will save herself and take the others out of slavery.—Ottawa Journal.

HOME SERVICE

BRAND-NEW PICTURE SET
YOU CAN PAINT ON GLASS

Paint on glass over designs

Beautiful pictures on glass—so decorative in your home and such fun to paint. You just lay your glass over a printed pattern and follow the design with your brush.

"Cabin in the Pines" shown here is one of our new set of lovely subjects, all 9 by 12 inches in their full size.

To paint them you need oils in only three colors—red, yellow and blue—and a little household enamel in black and white. A color chart shows how to mix your paints to get any shade you need. Use the household enamel to darken or lighten colors.

"Cabin in the Pines" calls for soft woody shades—deep greens for the pines, mellow browns for the logs. Finish your painting with a piece of gold paper behind the glass—then frame and hang proudly!

The pattern for "Cabin in the Pines" is included in our brand new set "Four Designs To Paint On Glass—Second Series." Others are "Swans on a Lake," "Dawn and Dawn," "Rose Bouquet"—each 9 by 12 inches. Tells what colors to use, how to mix paints.

Geese Fly High

But Do Not Wish To Tangle With Airplane Traffic

Our northern flyers feel a kinship with the wild geese these days. They see curious things in their frequent trips between the prairie and the Arctic.

During recent weeks forest fires have cast a heavy pall of smoke over the northern bush. It has impeded flying. The planes have to ascend to great heights to surmount the smoke blanket. In landing the pilots seek spots where the smoke thins out and spiral down through such holes in the blanket to the landing place.

The northern birdmen report large numbers of geese moving south as far as Fort McMurray. They too, have the smoke to contend with. At times they are seen at altitudes of 10,000 feet flying over the smoke. When the geese wish to alight to rest and feed they, like the pilots, seek a hole in the smoke and spiral down to a landing.

One flyer was trailing a large flock of geese led by an old hen. The plane was rapidly overtaking the flock. Suddenly the leader became aware that his charges were obstructing traffic. He veered sharply to one side about three hundred yards, then assumed his original course again parallel with the plane. The whole flock executed the manoeuvre in perfect order, and the plane passed by.—Calgary Herald.

Study Languages

Canadian Servicemen May Become Accomplished Linguists

Canada's servicemen, if they so desire, may be fairly accomplished linguists when this war is over. The Canadian Legion war services have arranged things so they can study Icelandic, German and French from compact little booklets that fit easily into pant's pocket.

Word from Canadian troops in Iceland is that they have found the Icelandic booklet useful in making themselves understood. Einar P. Johnson and Dr. S. J. Johannesson, of Winnipeg, wrote it and it was issued by the Legion Service and the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 29

THE MESSAGE OF JOHN THE BAPTIST

Golden text: Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance. Luke 3:8.

Lesson: Luke 3.

Devotional reading: Isaiah 40:1-5.

Explanations and Comments

John's Preaching in the Wilderness, Luke 3:1-6. It was when Tiberius Caesar was in the fifteenth year of his reign and Pontius Pilate was the governor of Judea (Herod reigned before he became the sole ruler, his brother Philip tetrarch of Idumea and the region of Trachonitis, east of the Jordan, Lymanias tetrarch of Abilene, northeast of Galilee, and Annas and Caiaphas were in the priesthood, that John, the son of Zacharias became aware of what God's plan for him was. Tiberius was joint ruler with Augustus for three years before he became the sole ruler, and it is uncertain from which date the fifteenth year is to be reckoned. If the earlier, the date at which John the Baptist began his preaching was 25-26.

The Call to Repentance, Luke 3:7-9. Our poet Lowell speaks of "A kind of maddened John the Baptist" whom the harshest word comes aptest, and harsh indeed, was John's word to the multitude who came to him to be baptized: "Ye offspring of vipers," was the way in which he addressed them. Vipers, serpents, were considered emblems of deceitfulness and wickedness; John called Pharisees and Sadducees by this term because, knowing their natural deceitfulness and cunning, he doubted the sincerity of their motive in coming to him. And he questioned them: "Who thought it worth while to warn you to flee from the Day of Judgment?" The phrase, the wrath to come, recalls the picture of serpents in the fields fleeing before the flames when the stubble is set on fire. The coming of the Messiah was expected to be a day of judgment, Luke 2:23. Since the Pharisees thought themselves so righteous, they should not have feared the judgment; since the Sadducees professed not to believe in it, they should not have been disturbed.

Eccentric But Clever

Famous Australian Surgeon Was Considered Genius In His Profession

Death of Professor Archibald Watson, distinguished Australian surgeon, at Thursday Island, at the age of 91, has recalled to many citizens innumerable tales of his eccentricities. Best of these, perhaps, is that of his invitation to a home in the Adelaide Hills, at which he arrived without any luggage. Later it was found he was wearing his dinner suit under his overcoat, and had his pyjamas under his dinner suit.

For all his odd habits of dressing in strange garb and whisking a portion of the human frame from his bag, often in a city street, to illustrate some point he was making in discussion, he rendered invaluable aid to anatomical science. In the words of one Adelaide surgeon, he taught Australia surgery, and to-day his pupils are numbered among the famous of their profession. One of his least-known accomplishments was a complete knowledge of the Bible, which he knew almost word for word.

IT COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED

Second in the series of drawings illustrating actual railway crossing accidents which have taken a toll of life on the prairies recently, and which might have been avoided with ordinary care, appears above. The driver of an automobile drew up at a wayside crossing while a long freight train was passing and waited while a number of box cars went streaming past. Then came a break in the moving wall before him and he started his car. In the next instant he was crushed into one of several flat cars which went to make up the train. Two persons were fatally injured in this accident because of impatience and carelessness combined on the part of the car driver. It could have been avoided.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA

presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

by Dr. J. W. S. McCULLOUGH

NEGLECTED TEETH

That the dentist is rapidly replacing the beautician and the plastic surgeon as the preventer and eradicator of wrinkles and furrows, is the statement of Dr. T. L. Marsh, writing in Health, the official organ of the Health League of Canada. Such disfigurements, he says, are as likely to be the results of defective teeth as they are of advancing age. Dr. Marsh's article refutes the delusion that a child's first teeth are of little importance since they won't last long. On the contrary, he asserts, they should be looked upon as the foundations for the permanent teeth. Unless they are maintained in the mouth in a healthy condition for the proper length of time, he says, the lower two thirds of the face fails to develop fully and symmetrically and the whole appearance of the face may be spoiled.

More than this, he asserts, dental infections progress more rapidly in the teeth of children than those of adults, and he recommends that children's teeth should be examined at least three times a year from three years of age to adolescence.

Regarding the general care of the teeth, Dr. Marsh urges thorough mastication of fibrous foods such as celery and raw apples. Gum tissues need exercise no less than muscles, he states, and also the chewing of fibrous foods is about the best way possible to polish those surfaces of the teeth that lie toward the tongue.

But as much to do with the health of the teeth, he says, Dr. Marsh. At least a pint of milk a day should be drunk, and meals should include one egg a day, some fresh fruit and vegetables, while sticky, starchy carbohydrates should be reduced to a minimum. In winter months, when sunbaths are impossible, cod-liver oil should be taken in order to supply the necessary vitamin D.

Starchy foods, says Dr. Marsh, are likely to form pasty masses in parts of the teeth which are hard to clean, and this in turn serves to accelerate dental decay.

Neglected teeth are the source of deep-seated troubles, Dr. Marsh warns. Infected roots and pyorrhea pockets may harbour millions of bacteria. These, as well as destroying the normal tissue with which they are in contact, produce poisons which may be absorbed through the walls of the thin blood vessels which surround the infected areas and thus pollute the blood stream, lowering the general vitality and opening the way for serious diseases.

The magistrate grumbled somewhat, and the assaulted policeman stepped into the box and took his oath to tell the truth and nothing but the truth. He gave his stereotyped answer, and again the magistrate looked at the drooping figure in the dock.

"What have you to say, Smith," he asked.

The man did not raise his head. "Is anything known about him? I notice that his address is not on the charge sheet."

"He refused his address, Your Worship," said the inspector.

"Remanded for inquiries!"

The jailer touched the prisoner's arm, and he looked up at him suddenly; stared wildly round the court, and then:

"May I ask what I am doing here?" he asked in a husky voice, and Jim nearly swooned.

For the black-faced man was Sir Joseph Layton!

Even the magistrate was startled, though he did not recognize the voice. He was about to give an order for the removal of the man when Jim pushed his way to his desk and whispered a few words.

"Who?" asked the magistrate.

"Impossible!"

"May I ask"—it was the prisoner speaking again—"what is all this about—I really do not understand."

And then he swayed and would have fallen, but the jailer caught him in his arms.

"Take him out into my room," the magistrate was on his feet. "The court stands adjourned for ten minutes," he said, and disappeared behind the curtains into his office.

A few seconds later they brought in the limp figure of the prisoner and laid him on a sofa.

"Are you sure? You must be mistaken, Mr. Carlton?"

"I am perfectly sure of him—even though his mustache has been shaved off," said Jim, looking into the face of the unconscious man. "This is Sir Joseph Layton, the Foreign Minister. I could not make a mistake, I know him so well."

The magistrate peered closer.

"I almost think you are right," he said, "but how on earth—"

He did not complete his sentence and soon after went out to carry on the business of the court. Jim had sent an officer to a neighboring chemist for a pot of cold cream, and by the time the divisional surgeon arrived all doubt as to the identity of the black-faced man had been removed with his make-up. His white hair was stained, his mustache removed, and so far as they could see, not one stitch of his clothing bore any mark which would have identified him.

The doctor pulled up the sleeve and examined the forearm.

"He has been dipped very considerably," he said, pointing to a number of little punctures. "I don't exactly know what drug was used, but there was hyacin in it, I'll swear."

Leaving Sir Joseph to the care of the surgeon, Jim hurried out to the telephone and in a few minutes was in communication with the Prime Minister.

"I'll come along in a few minutes," said the astonished gentleman. "Be careful that nothing about this gets to the papers—will you please ask the magistrate, as a special favor to me, to make no reference in Court?"

Fortunately, only one police court reporter had been present, and he had seen nothing that aroused his suspicion, and his curiosity as to why the prisoner had been carried to the magistrate's room was easily satisfied.

Sir Joseph was still unconscious when the Premier arrived. An ambulance had been summoned and was already in the little courtyard, and after a vain attempt to get him to speak, the Foreign Secretary was smuggled out into the yard, wrapped in a blanket, and dispatched to a nursing home.

"I confess I'm floored," said the Prime Minister in despair. "A nigger minister . . . assaulting the police! It is incredible! You say you were at the police station when he was brought in; didn't you recognize him then?"

"No, sir," said Jim truthfully, "I was not greatly interested—he seemed just an ordinary drunk to me. But one thing I will swear: he was not under the influence of any drug when he was brought into the station. The inspector said he reeked of whiskey, and he certainly found no difficulty in giving expression to his mind!"

The Premier threw out despairing hands.

"It is beyond me; I cannot understand what has happened. The whole thing is monstrously incredible. I feel I must be dreaming."

As soon as the Premier had gone, Jim drove to the nursing home to which the unfortunate minister had been taken. The Ivory street inspector had gone with the ambulance, and he had an astonishing story to tell.

"What do you think we found in his pocket?" he asked.

"You can't startle me," said Jim recklessly. "What was it—the Treaty of Versailles?"

The inspector opened his pocket book and took out a small black visiting card, blank, that is, except for a number of scratches, probably made by some blunt instrument, but the writer had attempted to get too much on so small a space, for writing it was, Jim saw when he examined the card carefully. Two words were decipherable, "Marling" and "Harlow" and these had been printed in capitals. He took a lead pencil, scraped the point upon the card, and sifted the fine dust over the scratches until they became more definite. The writing was still indecipherable even with such an aid to legibility as the lead powder afforded. Apparently the message had been written with a pin for in two places the card was perforated.

"The first word is 'whosoever,'" said Jim suddenly. "Whosoever . . . 'please' is the fourth word and that seems to be underlined . . ."

He studied the card for a long time and then shook his head.

"Harlow is clear and 'Marling' is clear. What do you make of it, Inspector?"

The officer took the card from his hand and examined it with a blank expression.

"I don't know anything about the writing or what it means," he said. "The thing I am trying to work out in my mind is how did that card come in his pocket—it was not there last night when the sergeant searched him—he takes his oath on it!"

CHAPTER XXI

A brief paragraph appeared in the morning newspapers:

"Sir Joseph Layton, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is seriously ill in a nursing home." It would take more than this simple paragraph to restore the markets of the world to the level they had been when the threat of a monstrous war had sent them tumbling like a house of cards. The principal item of news remained this world panic, which the Foreign Secretary's speech had initiated. A great economist computed that the depreciation in gilt-edged securities represented more extent through the tragedy of that unhappy speech.

The man puzzled him. If he was, as Jim was convinced, behind the scene, if his clever brain had devised, and by some mysterious means had brought about the financial panic, what end had he in view? He had been already one of the three richest men in England. He had not the excuse that he had a mammoth industry to benefit. He had no imperial project to bring to fruition. Had he been dreaming of new empires created out of the wild lands of unpopulated Africa, were he a great philanthropist who had some gigantic enterprise to advance for the benefit of mankind, this passionate desire for gold might be understood if it could not be excused.

Something Like A Scooter

German War Effort Developed Life Only On One Side

A Sault boy of perhaps five or six years of age, says the Sault Ste. Marie Star, was speeding along Court street on a home-made "scooter" constructed from a roller skate, a bit of board and an old box.

With his right foot placed firmly in the box, the left was used to propel him along the sidewalk. Occasionally it, too, was rested for a moment on the box. So his progress was streamlined and carried out with comparatively little effort.

But for all that there is a weakness in the scheme. As with so many others who start out to streamline things, the lad showed a tendency to the added development. It was during the time he was observed, always the left foot that was engaged in the propulsive exercises. The right leg, resting always on the shelf, wasn't getting its share of the exercise. If that were kept up, things might go wrong.

Something of that kind seems to have happened to Germany. It has been streamlined and speeded up for war. But its development has been one sided. The things that make life worth living in other lands have been overlooked, the natural capabilities in other lines have not been given a chance to develop.

That is why Germany is a menace to the world to-day. Too much may be sacrificed to streamlining. The Sault boy's life won't be always like that. But can Germany's be changed?

GEMS OF THOUGHT

HAPPINESS OF GOODNESS

Men of the noblest dispositions think themselves happiest when others share their happiness with them.—Jeremy Taylor

Be thine own palace, or the world's thy jail.—George Herbert

Happiness consists in being and in doing good; only what God gives, and what we give ourselves and others through His tenure, confers happiness: conscious worth satisfies the hungry heart, and nothing else can.—Mary Baker Eddy

Whatever makes men happier makes them better.—Goldsmith

Seek not to be rich, but happy. The one lies in bags, the other in content; which wealth can never give.—William Penn

A good man happy is a common good.—Chapman

Profturers in Japan

Men Getting Rich Through War Are Spending Money Lavishly

Tokyo profiteers who have gained their riches by illegal gains in the war industries are crowding high-spending resorts and spending their money in what the authorities regard as "a deplorably lavish manner." They are for the most part dealers in fuel, metal alloys, rice and fertilizers and are said to be reaping great clandestine profits through secret sales at higher than official prices. Some spa spendthrifts register under false addresses lest they attract too much suspicion. War industry profits have brought a boom to practically all holiday resorts throughout the country.

Tip From Germany

Keep your soap on a string. German newspapers advise—it's more economical. Soap is rationed in wartime Germany. The papers say it keeps dry this way, thus lasts longer, and all you have to do is touch it with wetted hands.

Hitter has issued a decree limiting the sale of false teeth in Germany and occupied countries. But the "gummers" may derive a bit of comfort from the thought that there'll not be much to eat this winter, anyway.

Iron For The Empire

Canada Likely To Have Plenty For Export Soon

The St. Thomas Times-Journal says:

Canada, according to an Ottawa forecast of several months ago, may shortly be independent of foreign sources of iron ore for the first time in its history. The Dominion may, in fact, become an exporter of fine hematite comparable in grade and in freedom from impurities with the famed Swedish ore, about which so much was heard during the Narvik campaign, says a writer in C-I-L Oval.

About 132 miles west and slightly north of the twin cities of Port William and Port Arthur lies a rock-bound, high-shored little lake, Steep Rock Lake, and it is under these northern waters that the magnetite, after making many hundreds of diamond drill holes, have partially mapped out a hidden hoard of many millions of tons of premium iron ore.

The plan of operation has been to sink a shaft on shore until it is extended well below the bed of the lake. From the shaft a cross-cut has been driven towards the unseen ore body. Subject to the difficulties which man must always face when he undertakes to fight nature on ground of her choosing, the mine workings are now on the verge of reaching the iron deposits, and with the aid of modern explosives the first iron will soon be blasted out and hoisted to the surface, possibly at the rate of 2,000 tons a day in the early stages.

Had Plenty Of Help

Talk about enterprises—a restaurant owner at Manchester moved his kitchen staff with the day's vegetables into a shelter during an air-raid alarm and with added voluntary help had the eatables prepared in quick order.

Greater New York

Greater New York has now a population of 7,380,259, or as many people as live in Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Newark combined, nearly as many, in fact, as live in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick combined.

Steel containing 3 1/2 per cent. nickel is chiefly noted for its toughness, and is commonly used in automobile crankshafts.

British Columbia leads all other Canadian provinces in fisheries production, with Nova Scotia ranking second.

Ambulance Banquet

Joe Morris, of Bellevue, stated Bellevue had suffered its worst attendance last year. He admitted Coleman was the best town in the Pass in the field of business enterprise and sport.

Evan Morgan, provincial mines inspector, stated that a First Aider was motivated to do something, a renderer of service. In paying his tribute to George Kellock he stated that deceased had always been easy to approach and always ready to render service to First Aid. He congratulated the First Aiders on their success on behalf of the mines.

Richard Greenhalgh admitted the old timers were falling off by one and listed several well-known First Aiders in Coleman. He stated he lived for the day when the Montizambert trophy, a Dominion shield, would again be brought to Coleman.

Archie McCulloch, president, dealt chiefly with the Association's efforts to get a unit of the 8th Field Ambulance stationed at Coleman and failing that, stationed at some point in the Pass. To date they had been unsuccessful but were still trying. Five local members of the association had offered their services as First Aid instructors to military authorities last year but had failed to receive a reply. Fifty-five candidates had been examined this year and it was hoped to double that number next year.

The toast to the ladies was sponsored by J. O. C. McDonald, McGillivray pit boss. The W. A. of the Canadian Legion served an exceptionally good meal and Mr. McDonald was warm in his praise of their efforts.

Jim Cousins, school teacher, spoke briefly with the 8th Field Ambulance unit, and the fact that a Coleman boy was an official of such a unit serving overseas.

Dr. Rose, instructor, started a real controversy when he stated he had taken part in a First Aid competition staged at Fernie and wondered why Coleman could not stage one similar. The controversy raged fully half an hour before it finally subsided. During the exchange of views a challenge was flung by Bellevue to meet Coleman in competition during the winter. The challenge was promptly accepted by secretary John Rushton.

Mr. Rushton stated a general meeting of the Association would be held Sunday, October 27, for the purpose of organizing the winter classes which would start probably the first Sunday in November. An exceptionally good entertainment program had been arranged by the executive. William Harrison, of Hillcrest, proved to be the feature attraction. He is known as the "Wizard of the West" and his tricks of magic and sleight of hand had the gathering intensely interested. Others on the program who were warmly applauded for their efforts were A. McCulloch, song; Harry Parkinson, bell solo; Ernest Goldring, accordion solo; Peter Bajek and the orchestra. Those receiving awards included: MEDALLIONS: Jack Mareoni, Gordon Marconi, Norman Youschuk, John Kulig, Herbert McMullen, Fred Weir, David Smith, Jack Goldring.
